Why Austin Matters

You hear so much about this city. “Keep Austin Weird” and its almost legendary status as fun, quirky and independent. Austin is an attitude as much as it is a place. It is urban because it thinks it is. The physical city is actually quite spread out and without many desirable urban attributes. But it has a great vibe and lots of activity. The University of Texas provides a huge student body and a “college town feel”. The live music scene is one of the best in the country and Austin revels in its creativity and independence. Every emerging city longs to “feel like Austin” and after a few days downtown, you’ll see why. Austin is a city with soul.
